

Our Voice

Tri-Village Local Schools

We're on our way to building for tomorrow
A School of Excellence

July 2012

4th of July

The Fourth of July celebration held in our community every year encompasses all that is right with small towns like ours. Hard work and dedication is evident in planning and staging the event. The community must also step forward and support the celebration financially. The hard work, dedication, and financial support results in a great event that benefits our community and makes this a place people want to live and raise their children. This investment of time and resources helps our community economically and attracts people to visit and perhaps even settle here permanently. It is also a source of community pride.

A certain level of sacrifice is required to achieve something excellent like the Fourth of July Celebration in our community. The same is true with Tri-Village Local Schools. We work hard and are dedicated to providing this community with an excellent school. In order for that to happen we need support from the community. Sacrifices are necessary to create something great and as we prepare for another school year we ask for the community's continued support. A strong school is necessary to grow and maintain a strong community. We hope you will show your pride for this community by supporting the school in every way possible.

Please contact the school to let us know how you would like to show your support. We are always in need of volunteers or donations that benefit our students. We have become more reliant on the community as our resources continue to tighten, but we have never lost sight of our goal, and that is to offer excellence in everything. Just as the school is a vital part of the Fourth of July Celebration, because many of the events are staged at the school, this community is a vital part of the school district's success, and march toward excellence. We will continue to stay excited about developing opportunities to offer the students of our district. Please make the necessary sacrifices to maintain our excellent facilities, and support our academic and extra-curricular offerings.

